

TAOIST'S SEVEN SEEDS

The Imperial Elixir

Many are concerned about improving Chi circulation, some no doubt are well aware of the implications of sex and circulation of the vital energy. Conceivably one of Taoism's best kept secrets is the centuries old use of "SEVEN SEEDS" an herbal elixir which to this day remains an undiscovered treasure for most non-Taoists.

For thousands of years, Taoists have considered it a supreme elixir, a designation that is only bestowed upon the best of Chinese Herbology's most powerful prescriptions. A title not lightly given, nor is it undeserved! This elixir strengthens the seven glands (adrenal, pituitary, thyroid, pineal, thymus, pancreas, and sexual glands) in addition to nourishing the Kidney Yang – thereby intensifying sexual energies.

Of course, the trick is to subordinate the carnal urge (or otherwise conserve the sperm/sexual energy [Jing] allowing the acquired/stored sexual Chi to energize the body). And, when the use of SEVEN SEEDS is combined with Dan Tien Breathing and meditation, the transmutation of such energy "quickens" and intensifies the Chi that flows through the body.

The ingredients in SEVEN SEEDS will powerfully nourish the glandular system, strengthen the Kidneys, and bolster the immune system [Wei Chi]. Affording the user a long sexually-productive life.

You know, it is actually quite common for Taoist to live well into their 90's remaining sexually active, and many consider the use of this legendary formula to be their secret weapon.

For many centuries Taoist women as well as men have enjoyed the effects of this potent sexual elixir.

What miracles can you expect to experience?

Here's a breakdown of how the ingredients in SEVEN SEEDS can be expected to perform:

Cuscutae and lycium will treat kidney yin deficiency, taking care of such problems as impotence, lack of physical desire, nocturnal emissions, and will increase male sperm count, rubus will treat kidney deficiency as well as spermatorrhea, impotence, premature ejaculation and nocturnal emissions. Plantago, a strong kidney tonic, will resolve dampness, while elettaria will move and regulate Chi while resolving dampness, schizandra will nourish the kidneys and bind the Jing essence, while siltinum dries dampness and treats kidney deficiency at the same time strengthening kidney yang, and alcohol will extract the medicinal properties from the ingredients and improve blood flow and circulation.

Testimonials concerning its efficacy can be found in Taoist; and Chairman of The Foundation of the Tao; Dr. Stephen T. Chang's book The Tao of Sexology. Where it is mentioned that SEVEN SEEDS has been used for thousands of years in an effort to guarantee life-long sexual power regardless of one's age.

How to best use this formula?

Taoist tradition recommends preparing this herbal formula into a medicinal wine (yao jiu), which must age for a minimum of 90-days, to allow the herbal properties to be properly extracted. Daily dosage would be to drink one 50ml shot glass full, and treatment is recommend for a minimum of 90 days or as long as necessary for sexual enhancement . Once prepared the yao jiu can be safely stored for many years; as a matter of fact, the longer it continues to age the more powerful its abilities will become.

Not interested in making a wine?

For those who don't have the time to wait for a yao jiu to age or prefer not to drink alcohol; we will powder the herbal formula and the powder can be added to capsules, or a smoothie or juice and drunk that way. Regretfully, due to rising costs — there will be a $10.00 extra fee applied for powdering.

Daily dosage (for capsules) is 3 caps 3 x daily, when adding the powder to juice/smoothie, mix one heaping teaspoon into 8 ounces of juice/smoothie and drink that 2-3 x daily. However, we would be remiss if we did not state that while effective when used this way, a medicinal wine does make a more potent brew and the formula's effects are more powerfully felt.

Whether you decide to prepare the traditional medicinal wine or use the powdered herb in capsules or a smoothie, we will provide easy-to-understand processing instructions.
